Fiji can expect a Gymnastics Federation to be set up with the support of the International Gymnastics Federation. Gymnastics Australia development manager for the Oceania region, Brooke Kneebush said gymnastics was not new to Fiji.

For this reason it was now possible to establish a federation.

“We have already held the first meeting to identify the board of directors of the new Gymnastics Federation of Fiji,” Kneebush said.

“The four directors include Radha Krishna, Darlene Underwood, James Young and Adi Qaranivalu.

“The International Gymnastics Federation is very supportive of the establishment of Gymnastics Federation in Fiji.

“They are aware that the sport was first introduced to Fiji three years ago and the new Gymnastics Federation of Fiji will be set up once the legal requirements for establishing the entity is finalised.”

Fiji Association of Sports and National Olympic Committee (FASANOC) chief executive Lorraine Mar said the sport would be a boost to the organisation as it is an Olympic sport.

“We’re happy that there’s enough development in the sport to now form a national federation.”

Clubs

There are currently three gymnastic clubs in Fiji operating across five venues in Nadi, Denarau, Suva and Pacific Harbour.

The new board of directors will meet with FASANOC and the Fiji National Sports Commission to devise a plan.
